香港教育中心商會副主席任偉豪指出：「儘管社會近日廣泛談論變種病毒，但暫時沒有病毒傳染的跡象，市民不必過份擔憂。自從上星期四政府放寬了限聚措施之後，經濟活動似乎沒有明顯活躍，我相信是因為放寬的幅度實在太細。我估計政府放寬措施目的只在谷針，並不在於帶動經濟，這是業界不樂意見到的。」

Vice Chairman of The Hong Kong Chamber of Education Centres Yam Wai Ho observed, “Although the mutated virus has recently been widely discussed in the community, there seems no sign of its spread, so the public need not worry too much. Last Thursday the government relaxed the restrictions, but there has not been any surge in economic activities. I believe it is because the extent of the relaxation was too small, and the government’s aim was just to increase vaccination coverage, not to revive the economy. The industry does not want to see this.”
